

The postharvest fumigation of California blueberries to eliminate insects with potential to serve as export trade barriers *

Work group / Department: USDA-ARS-SJVASC, Crop Protection and Quality Unit

Project Year: October 31, 2014

Anticipated Duration of Project: Year 2 of 2

Project Title: The postharvest treatments of California blueberries to eliminate insects with potential to serve as export trade barriers

Principle Investigator: Spencer S. Walse

USDA-ARS-SJVASC, 9611 S. Riverbend Ave, Parlier, CA 93648,
(559) 596-2750, fax (559) 596-2792, spencer.walse@ars.usda.gov

Cooperating Investigators:

Steve Tebbets, USDA-ARS-SJVASC, (559) 596-2723, steve.tebbets@ars.usda.gov

*The postharvest fumigation of California blueberries to eliminate insects with potential to serve as export trade barriers final research report was under final review as of the time this annual report was published. A copy of the final report will be sent out after completion. If there are any further questions, please contact the Commission office.

